Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Saturday 27 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Sunshine and the odd shower, becoming wet later.

Today:
A cold frosty start. Mostly dry and bright, but scattered wintry showers in the west during the morning. Cloudier and breezier in the afternoon, rain and gales in west later.

Tonight:
Rain spreading northeast across most areas, some heavy, though little reaching the sheltered northeast. Windy with gales for a time. Turning clearer later tonight with a few showers.

Sunday:
Mainly dry start, a few showers. Cloud and more persistent rain will extend from the southwest, becoming heavy over western high ground especially the West Highlands. Drier northeast. Milder, windy.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Occasional rain on Monday, heaviest over the West Highlands, patchy in sheltered east. Rain slowly clearing north on Tuesday, turning warm and sunny south and east, Wednesday mainly dry.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.